As a Spanish proverb rightly states - an ounce of blood is worth more than a pound of friendship! Family is the most indispensable aspect for everyone. There's nothing that comes before family, as our family members are the ones who will always support and be there for us. Often, there are times when we are faced with hardships in our personal lives, but our families become collateral damage; and sometimes, we are left with nothing but to sacrifice something very personal and priceless for our family.

Ayaan, a former Bcom student from Mahim west Mumbai had to sacrifice by dropping out of his graduate studies, due to his father's unexpected surgery. His family was everything to him and he couldn't imagine them shouldering the financial burden. With determination and without any second thoughts about continuing his studies, Ayaan decided to keep his dreams at bay and decided quickly find a job to support his family.

In his pursuit of becoming the bread earner for his family, Ayaan faced a lot of criticism and difficulties because of dropping out at an early age. Nevertheless, he wanted to take care of his family by all means and avoided paying attention to the taunts from society. Perhaps fate had other plans for him, even after applying to many jobs, giving multiple interviews, and registering on countless platforms, he wasn't fortunate to find the right job.

Ayaan came to know about the apna app via the play store and swiftly within 3 days, he was flooded with positive responses from more than 35 employers. After all his tireless efforts, Ayaan was able to get an ideal job role for himself through apna with not only a fantastic work environment but also a salary that exceeded his expectations.

"Job ke liye dhake khata raha, 35 interview diye easily, sab platforms pe apply karta raha but sabse jyada responses apna se mile" said Ayaan. "Ab mai apne father ko financially support bhi kar sakta hu and sath hi sath save bhi kar sakta hu apni aage ki padhai wapas resume karne ke liye" he added.

Just like Ayaan, apna has helped millions of other users in finding a relevant job, at the right location, with the right salary.
